FOR RELEASE ON RECEIPT

BRITISH ARCHAEOLOGIST WILL SPEAK ON GREEK ART

J. Nicolas Coldstream, professor of Aegean archaeology at Bedford College, University of London, will visit The Cleveland Museum of Art on Sunday, April 4, to give a free public lecture in the Museum's Gartner Auditorium. He will speak at 3:00 pm on "The Origins of Greek Sculpture."

Professor Coldstream was educated at Eton and then at King's College, Cambridge, from which he was graduated in 1952 with First Class Honours. Since 1960 he has served in Bedford College's department of Greek as lecturer, reader and, since 1975, as professor of Aegean archaeology. He is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of London and a Fellow of the British Academy. His most recent book is Geometric Greece, published in London in 1977.

Professor Coldstream's lecture is presented in cooperation with the Cleveland Society of the Archaeological Institute of America.
